PADDOCK PASS SOCIALITES

Saddling a race horse carries with it a very especial aura of its own that seems not unlike the mystical arts to the layman watching the tack go on a fit one. The texture of its skin, the particular sheen of the coat, the way the head is thrown back and the tail swished, the feet stamped, all apparently tend to throw some light on the skill of the man in the saddling enclosure. Is it for these technical points that a pass into the saddling enclosure is so essential, and if everyone had this permission, would it then be easier to successfully guess whether any given horse would win its race? Certainly not. If appearances would alone tell the tale, trainers would be as rich as Croesus.

To listen to the appeals directed at racing secretaries by those who feel they should have tickets to the saddling enclosure, one would soon believe that the paddock is the be all and end all to racing, when nothing actually could be farther from the truth. A horse may look perfect and be nowhere; another may give the appearance of a hat rack so tightly is the skin drawn over its bones and yet jump away from the barrier as if shot out of a gun and win with ease. Although no statistics are available, undoubtedly just as much money has been lost betting on the appearance of horses in the paddock as by studying past performances or betting on odd numbers, the names that begin with the same letter of the alphabet or on the long shots. Racing has all kinds of systems, the ones best calculated to lose being obviously the most successful.

This desire to get into the saddling enclosure is not so much an urge to get in on the inside as it is an urge to appear as influential and as knowing as does the trainer as he pulls the girths, smooths out the saddle cloth and finally as he lightly throws his boy into the saddle. It looks so very impressive how can one help but long to be in that self same enclosure with the men who have the knowledge to bring their charges to the very peak of perfection and racing class at just the exact moment?

Psychology being what is, with a little thought the over-worked racing secretaries can completely deflate the paddock urge by a simple expedient. Instead of allowing only the trainer, his owner and jockey to go into the saddling enclosure before a race which stipulation always results in a surge of humanity through the gates of every paddock in the country, all that is necessary is to let everybody in. As soon as the gates are flung open to the world the holy of holies will at once lose its irresistible appeal.

For years hunt meeting addicts have been hanging over paddock rails gazing enviously at more fortunate brethren who have been able to produce the sacred piece of cardboard that admits the bearer to the paddock. Many are the ruses that have been tried from using last year's pass to persuading a fortunate friend to pass his "open sesame" over the fence, once he himself, is safely inside. To some racing fans not to have a paddock pass is to be hopelessly out of the social swim. It is like not being invited to the neighbor's party, and failing miserably to keep up with the Joneses.

Figuring that no paddock has ever been made sufficiently large to accommodate all those seeking paddock passes and still leave room for horse, trainer, jockey and owner, the Maryland Racing Committee of My Lady's Manor race meeting last week calmly did away with the paddock entirely. When those hardy annuals wrote for their customary paddock pass, they were politely told there would be no paddock. Horror and amazement, in fact, something akin to consternation, was felt by the habitual paddock pass socialite. How could any race meeting be safely run without a paddock! There were even heard mutterings of dire foreboding. People would get killed, horses would run away, jockeys would be thrown.

But in Maryland last Saturday the same trainers deftly tightened the girths, the jockeys were tossed into the saddle and everybody interested had a look-see without being any wiser. It all goes to show, that racing paddocks are merely inventions to incite envy and subterfuge. Do away with them as has been done for many years at Saratoga. Allow the horses to be saddled anywhere, under trees, behind sheds, out in the middle of the infield, and no one pays any attention. Coop them up in an enclosure and all the world wants to pry himself inside to the exasperation of those few who have a right to be there. Actually it is so much more dangerous to have a crowded paddock, than to have none at all, there is no comparison. Why not do away with racing paddocks. It would save thousands of dollars in printing paddock passes, would not deflate nearly so many racing egos and would give the trainer enough elbow room to saddle his horse in peace.

Experimental No. 2 To King Ranch's
Sonic; Colando's Uncle Miltie Also Ran;
Tilly Rose and Ruddy Split Prioress

Joe H. Palmer

When the second Experimental Handicap was over, everybody had the comfort of realizing that they knew less about the 3-year-olds than they did before. To put the facts in order, this is what happened.

Sonic, a Blue Larkspur colt owned by King Ranch, won it by a half-length under 105 pounds, running close up all the way and saving ground. He was ridden by Jack Colanderi, a 20-year-old from Troy, N. Y., who had his first winner last July 4 at Aqueduct and is thus still an apprentice. Sonic was his first stakes winner.

Jumbo, by Menow, and owned by Hal Price Headley, stumbled badly and grabbed his quarter coming out of the gate. He then rushed to the front, went away wide in the stretch, and lost the race in the last sixteenth. He had 111 pounds and was not beaten six pounds by the winner, even skipping his troubles.

Phantom Farm's Nullify, with 119 pounds, had a fit of objecting to sand in his face and dropped back to seventh. But when the field fanned out in the stretch as Jumbo went wide, carrying out Count Turf and Pur Sang, Nullify went to running and finished third, a nose behind Jumbo. Giving the winner 14 pounds and the runner-up eight, he ran a better race than either by any reasonable handicapping.

It was a length back to Count Turf, and Dave Gorman thought he might have won except for being carried out. But Count Turf had 113 pounds, so one must still rank him behind Nullify. To Market (121) had speed for a while and then dropped back. Battle Morn (120) chose to do his running in the stretch, moving from tenth to fifth, but was beaten about three lengths. Uncle Miltie did no running at any stage, and finished eighth, beaten about five lengths. The others, with light weights and beaten decisive distances, can hardly be figured.

Let's suppose you were handicapping for a similar race, with only this one to go on. Nullify would have to go at the top, with say, 126 pounds. Figuring that two pounds mean a length at a 1 1-16 miles the others would run: Battle Morn (121), Jumbo (118), Count Turf (118), To Market (116), Sonic (113), Uncle Miltie (111).

Now that's pretty silly, and if such a race were run Uncle Miltie would be 1-to-10. That's why I say the Experimental No. 2 did not supply much light.

But Uncle Miltie is responsible for the darkness. Take him out, and the others might be handicapped fairly enough. The Heather Broom colt simply did not run his race. He had no excuse; when Woodhouse went to work on him he didn't run. Now off the Champagne Stakes and the Wakefield Handicap last year, and his first race this season, it's perfectly obvious that he can run far better than this. If he didn't, there are two possible causes. Horsemen in Florida and clockers in New York have frequently expressed doubts about his soundness. If there was any physical trouble, it hasn't been admitted as these notes are written. The other possibility is that too much has been done with him and that he was stale. In this case he might be freshened up in time for the Derby. This is not, by the way, to second guess his trainer, because I have known trainers of forty or fifty years of experience to get a horse one work to tight. It even happens with human athletes, who can say how they feel.

Sonic, which after all got the $18,

500, is a son of Split Second, the Selima winner of 1935, and one of the first good horses King Ranch had. He ran three times last year and got a first and a third, but was unplaced in his only try at a stakes. This year he'd been out once before and had won comfortably at a mile and a sixteenth. So we hardly know how good he is. Max Hirsch, at any rate, thinks he has a better 3-year-old prospect in Long Bow, not yet raced this year.

Tilly Rose, which King Ranch bought from W. G. Douglas for $25,000 at the end of last season, proved herself a fortunate purchase in her division of the Prioress Stakes, and returned $11,237.50 on the investment. The filly raced twice last year and won both starts, and now she has two starts and two firsts for King Ranch, the other coming in an overnight sprint on April 3, with $2,600 as the take.

The filly, now a 3-year-old, is not very fashionably bred, being by Bull Briar (By *Bull Dog)—Tilly Kate, by Draymont (by Wildair). She was put in the Keeneland fall sale of 1949 and Douglass picked her up for $3,600. An index to the estimation of her sire is the fact that, in 1949, five other yearlings by him were sold, and that none of them went over $650.

Her race in the Prioress indicated a certain amount of class, for it was no easy conquest, as her three overnight races had been. She locked—

Friar's Melody Wins Deep Run Hunt Cup

THE MALVERN HILL. Scratches cut the starters to 3 in this event and with Spain falling at the 1st jump, the field was narrowed to the leading Night Patrol, owned by F. A. Clark, and R. K. Mellon's Deferment. Jockey F. Schulhoffer came on to win with Night Patrol while Jockey J. Murphy placed. The jumps were a bit on the large side. (Darling Photo)

THE RICHMOND PLATE. Joseph Smerski's Whatta Knight, No. 2, alternated the lead with the eventual winner, F. A. Clark's Flying Wing, No. 1, until he lost Jockey C. Cotter at the 11th. Jockey A. P. Smithwick and Crown Royal, No. 5, were 3rd. (Hawkins Photo)

Deep Run Opens Virginia Racing

P. T. Cheff's Friar's Melody Outjumps Opposition In Timber Feature; Clarke Horses Take Major Brush Honors

Nancy G. Lee

"Pawdon me, could you tell me where the dog show is?" Glancing quickly to the other side of the building, the faces there did seem at least vaguely familiar but this was a hunt meeting, not a dog show. The matter was of no paramount importance, however, there was a dog show being held and the Deep Run Hunt Race Association had a full card scheduled between the flags for the afternoon of April 14. The site was on the grounds of the Atlantic Rural Exposition, Inc., Richmond, Va. You could take either or both.

With the season moving swiftly toward the ultimate goal for every timber horse owner, trainer and rider, any prospects for The Maryland Hunt Cup are given a thorough going over and comments run riot as to whether there is a chance, no chance or perhaps a chance. Every Saturday until Cup time, the entries for the timber race are scanned and while no one can say what will turn up out of the blue in Maryland, or whether some owner in Pennsylvania has a timber horse just cooling his heels until that last Saturday in April, or even Virginia might be prepping something to go postward, the various horses are the subject of conversation.

Only one scratch marred the original entry of 10 horses in the Deep Run Hunt Cup. It was up to Starter Francis Greene (who was breaking his maiden as starter with the elastic tape) to send them away. The tape didn't cause too much concern and Jockey A. P. Smithwick went off winging on Mrs. Alan M. Seafie's Tourist Dream. Tourist Dream broke his maiden over timber last May at Rose Tree and Paddy made his reappearance in the timber ranks this year after several years' absence. This pair was followed by a couple of new comers, Mr. Paul Fout riding Finishine Stables' Amalgo and Owner-rider Mr. Leon T. Greenaway on Run Bob. Mr. Mallory Nash, who has been in the winner's circle at point-to-points left the start on his Derryclare and showed the way over the 1st jump.

The 2nd jump makes one think of the Rose Tree where the first 2 jumps really come at the field in a hurry but at Deep Run there is a turn to be made before the 3rd looms up. Going around the turn, Mr. Greenaway and Run Bob missed the flag and Jockey R. Gough was about to go out also on Miss Mary L. Howard's Tagnall. Making an S curve, Jockey Gough rode back on the course but Run Bob had to be turned around and lost considerable ground. The horses were moving along the back country and over the 4th, Mr. E. Weymouth was setting the pace on George T. Weymouth's *McGinty Moore, followed by F. W. Bennett's Peter de Boots, with Jockey M. Lowery up and Derryclare. At the 5th the leaders were the same but over this one, Mr. Brown had moved Friar's Melody into 5th position and Mr. E. Bennett was 6th on Mrs. Amory Carhart's Mister Mars.

Around the turn, the course lies down hill and slightly left-handed toward the 6th. Jumping on even terms with Derryclare, Peter de Boots hooked his knees under the top rail and the entire section of the jump came down, leaving a good space for Mr. Brown and Friar's Melody but they declined the invitation, jumping the panel to the left. The horses were moving right along and made the turn toward the 7th with Friar's Melody now making his position known and taking over the job of establishing the pace. Out in the country, over the 8th and around the turn, the 9th marked a complete turn of the course and the order was Friar's Melody, Peter de Boots, Mister Mars, Derryclare, *McGinty Moore, Tourist Dream, Tagnall, Amalgo and the trailing Run Bob.

Friar's Melody, running and jumping easily, was now gaining ground ahead of Peter de Boots as the latter was putting in some rather bad ones and losing ground over his jumps. At the 13th on the back side, Friar's Melody was leading by some 8 lengths, with Peter de Boots still 2nd but Mr. Bennett began to move alongside the latter with Mister Mars. The 15th was the jump with the down section but evidently the riders were not taking any chances on the rails lying on the ground. They picked a panel and jumped it. At the 16th, with the Michigan horse still showing the way, Peter de Boots ran out but was ridden on to the 17th.

The 18th and last lay around the turn and Friar's Melody was over but now 2nd was Tourist Dream with Mister Mars 3rd and *McGinty Moore 4th. There is a long stretch drive and there was no question about the winner but it was also apparent that there was going to be some riding for the next three positions. Setting a new track record of 5.54, Friar's Melody romped across the finish with a 12-length gap behind him. Mr. Weymouth and *McGinty Moore had moved up in the run and were battling it out with Mr. Bennett and Mister Mars as Tourist Dream dropped back to 4th. The place position went to *McGinty Moore with a length's advantage over Mister Mars.

After finishing 2nd in the Carolina Cup on Friar's Melody, Mr. Brown was approached by Chris Wood, Jr., field director of United Hunts, about running him in the Deep Run Hunt Cup. Mr. Brown was a little undecided as the Mid-West hunt meeting circuit opens at Tryon tomorrow and he thought he would have all he could do getting ready for that. However, he was talked into it but he won't have to be talked into a decision as to whether or not it was a successful trip.

Trainer M. H. Dixon, Jr., and Jockey E. Phelps, who talk about "wintering it out" in Pennsylvania the past few months, must have had a few clear days as they turned out the winner of the first race, The Broad Rock, about 1 1-2 miles over hurdles. Somebody must have watched their schools as the word was "Jam". Charles E. Mather, 2nd's Avonwood and Mr. E. Weymouth left the pack on top and the chestnut gelding continued to lead the way over the first 3 hurdles, followed by Jockey C. V. B. Cushman on Mrs. T. A. Randolph's Wenham. Over the 4th it was still Avonwood but Jockey J. Zimmerman had moved Walter F. Wickes, Jr.'s Tourelay into 2nd ahead of Wenham and James F. McHugh's Whatsinit and Jam. Wenham came back behind Avonwood again as Tourelay dropped back and Jam was in 4th position. Over the last hurdle and around the turn into the stretch, the horses were really moving right along and Jockey Phelps and Jam were gaining. Also moving up rapidly was Jockey M. Ferral and Alvin Untermyer's *Irish Clown. With these two taking over the pace and Wenham and Avonwood running as a pair, the finish was a close one. Jam came on to win by a head as *Irish Clown placed 1 1-2 lengths ahead of Wenham which was a head in front of Avonwood. The Pennsylvania winter turned out a winner which was clocked in new track time.

The brush jumps had gone through a face lifting and height lifting before the races and the results were a little too much for some of the younger brush horses and the less experienced older ones. Scratches in The Malvern Hill cut the starters to 3. F. A. Clark's Night Patrol, winner of his first outing over brush this year at Camden, and R. K. Mellon's Deferment were followed by J. N. Greer's Spain as they went into the 1st jump. Night Patrol and Jockey F. Schulhoffer cut in front of Deferment as they landed but no damage was done. However, Spain went down, seriously injuring his rider, Jockey J. Zoric. Over the two jumps in front of the stands, it was apparent that Deferment was not liking any part of the jumps and

Breeding Notes

George M. Humphrey
Foxhunting — Showing — Racing

Karl Koontz

One of the most horse-minded citizens of Chagrin Valley, Ohio is George M. Humphrey, who has been active in horse activities of all kinds. One of his first horse ventures was as a silent partner with Harry Devereux, who owned the nice trotting stallion Lee Axworthy, which in 1916 established a record of 1.58 1-4 for trotting stallions which stood until 1941 when Spencer Scott reduced it to 1.57 1-4. North Randall Park was the scene of many brushes between these two trotting notables Lee Axworthy and Peter Volo.

George Humphrey came to Cleveland in 1918, and ever since has been very active in the Chagrin Valley Hunt club and has established a record for holding an official position for the longest period of time in the club. This period of time has stretched over 24 years, from 1922 to 1946, Mr. Humphrey being active as Whipper-In and Joint-Master.

One hunting experience told on Mr. Humphrey is that while out one day, he topped a rise, and tally-hoed the fox just as it was disappearing into a barn, with the pack in hot pursuit. When they arrived at the barn, dismounted and went in, they found the fox, a very frightened collie dog, at the top of the barn in a hay loft.

George Humphrey's Holiday Hill Farm in Kirtland Hills is where many fine hunters have learned their lessons. Mr. Humphrey's theory about really enjoying hunters, is that the owner should develop and train them himself. One of the famous horses to have been developed along in this manner was the chestnut hunter Big John. This hunter was purchased from the Kentucky breeder, B. F. Garber as a yearling, and was shown as a 2-year-old in hand at Warrenton and won his class. The colt was afterwards schooled and hunted at Cleveland by Mr. Humphrey and his daughter. His championships include, the oldest horse show in the country, Upperville, Warrenton, Piping Rock, and The National.

Over a period of 7 years at Chagrin Valley Hunt Horse Show, he won 13 firsts, one reserve championship and three championships. In winning the championship for the third time, he retired the Chagrin Valley Hunt Club Challenge Trophy which has been in competition for 13 years.

Although very active in hunting and horse show circles, Mr. Humphrey has a very keen interest in racing. Among his first forays into racing was with Crispin Oglebay when they purchased Holiday Girl, a full sister to the stakes winner Cocopet, by *Jacopo—Madam Capet, by *Gino, for $20,000 at the yearling sales.

Dr. J. P. Jones at his Inglecross Farm has in training for George Humphrey some corking good individuals. There is the 3-year-old Spy Ring, by Alsab-Hindu Spy, by Discovery. This miss ran 2nd in her first start at Pimlico in a field of maidens and then returned a winner over the same course in her next outing, and picked up a 4th in 5 efforts as a 2-year-old. Also in the older group of the stable is the 3-year-old Classic Verse, by *Blenheim II—Snarkling, by Snark, which was a winner at Saratoga last year. Snarkling was a winner at 2, and set a then new track record of 53 4-5 for 4 1-2 furlongs at Tropical Park.

The daughter of Questionnaire, High I. Q., out of Darby Dunedin by *Blenheim II, was a non-starter last year. Her dam was a winner of $49,785, including the trophies for the Columbia Handicap (7-8 miles in 1:24 4-5), Detroit Lassie, and many other events. Derby Dunedin's dam also produced the stakes winners New Deal and Mountain Ridge.

In the 2-year-old string is the Whirlaway miss, Hummy, out of Minnant, by Pennant. This lassie is a half-sister to Augury, winner of $57,450, including the Santa Susana, Santa Maria Stakes, Delaware Handicap and others. She is also a half-sister to the stakes winners Blue Pennant, Magnificent, and Bold Salute.

Then there is Whatdouno, by *Hepolis—Uno Best, by *Sir Gallahad III, a half-brother to the good 2-year-old of last season Knowitall. Uno Best's dam, Level Best, by Equipoise, was a stakes winner of the Coaching Club American Oaks, Keeneland Special Event, Autumn Day Stakes and many other titled events. The brown colt Tried and True by *Mahmoud—On the Level, by *Sickle, is a half-brother to the stakes placing Why the Rush, and to the good winners Gates Mills and Courtney. Time Honored, by Eight Thirty—Honor Bound, by *Bull Dog, completes the stable. His dam, Honor Bound, is out of Anchors Ahead, the full sister to War Relic.

At Harrie B. Scott's Shandon Farm are Mr. Humphrey's broodmares, Cubbing, Bay Leaves, Fighting Polly, and Alsab's Day. In seniority Fighting Polly, a 12-year-old daughter of Man o'War—Pollymera, by *Polymelian, ranks first. She is a half-sister to New Rule which was 2nd in Perselopsis' Bushwick Hurdle 'Cap and 3rd in Forget Hurdle 'cap, and to Down East, which placed in the Bonquet Stakes. Fighting Polly is in foal to Alsab thus the resulting foal will be a full sister or brother to the good winner Devotional and is booked to First Fiddle.

All the rest of the mares are much younger. There is the crack-jack 5-year-old Alsab's Day, which accounted for her share of stakes, winning the Pollyanna, and Marguerite Stakes, and placed in many other colorful events. Alsab's Day has been booked to Request.

Bay Leaves, a daughter of Bull Lea—Bay Servant, by Black Servant, is 4, and she is a half-sister to Harriet Sue, the stakes winner of some $64,175, and to The Fat Lady, which accounted for the Royal Oaks Stakes. Completing the line up is the 5-year-old mare Cubbing, by Fighting Pok—Morning, by American Flag, whose dam is a half-sister to the derby winning Hoop Jr.

*NIZAMI was a prince of ancient Egypt and the sire that bears his name today has a pedigree of right royal lineage. On the bottom line he is out of MUMTAZ BEGUM, stakes winner and dam of stakes winners, while his second dam was the immortal MUMTAZ MAHAL. She was nicknamed "The Flying Wonder" during her racing career, and afterwards went on to be a bountiful producer at stud. Her sire, The Tetrarch, was one of the fleetest horses to ever race in England and was unbeaten at the track. This heritage of blazing speed crossed with the CYLLENE and ST. SIMON lines of NEARCO should undoubtedly produce a thoroughbred of the highest calibre.

Imported Arabian Sire Brought To America By A. Keene Richards

The picture on the cover this week is by our most prolific sporting painter, Edward Troye who painted in the United States from 1828 to his death in 1874 at Georgetown Kentucky. It shows an Arabian stallion, Massoud that A. Keene Richards and the artist brought to this country from Arabia along with his Arabian groom.

During the course of his extensive travels throughout the United States, Troye journeyed to the Carolinas. While there he was asked by Colonel Spinn the breeder of the celebrated Bertrand to do a picture of this stallion in Kentucky. In this trip, Harry Worcester Smith tells us, he met A. Keene Richards whose breeding establishment at the Blue Grass Stud Georgetown and his Transylvania plantation in Louisiana were immense holdings.

Mr. Richards did not confine his activities to Thoroughbreds but was much interested in Arabs. He and Troye became fast friends and in the early 1850's he accompanied the artist to Arabia and the Holy Land. Troye painted many specimens of Arabs on their native desert. During this trip Mr. Richards purchased a number of Arabs which he brought to America. The picture reproduced this week is of one of these Arabs brought to this country as a result of this trip. Youssef, who has been depicted in his native costume, came along to take care of the stallion.

The picture is unusual in that it shows an alert, high mettled animal not just in a natural pose, but with his head thrown up, his ears upright looking as if he was about to gallop madly off across the desert. It is typical of Troye that his horses are often painted in positions of unusual alertness, their bodies tense. It enabled the artist to display his great ability to put in the structure of a horse as he knew it.

Keene Richards was so fond of Troye that he had a studio built for him on his plantation at Georgetown where the artist now lies buried.

Deep Run Racing

he roughed up Jockey Murphy over the liverpool. After the 6th Deferrment took advantage of the downhill run to gain ground and gained more as he cut close to the turn. It was Night Patrol all the way, however, and he won easily.

Four horses lined up for the 4th race, The Richmond Plate, about 2 miles over brush. F. Ambrose Clark's Lone Fisherman, winner of the event last year, had Jockey E. Carter up and his stablemate, Flying Wing, which won on the flat at Camden on April 7, was ridden by Jockey F. Schulhoffer. Also in this strong 4-horse field was Joseph Smerski's Whatta Knight which chalked up such an impressive victory in Deep Run's Malvern Hill last season and went on to annex the Belmont Spring Maiden Steeplechase. The 4th horse was W. C. Robinson, Jr.'s Crown Royal which went to the winner's circle last year over hurdles, changed over to brush and topped his 1950 performances with a winning trip in the International Gold Cup Stake at Ligonier.

Leaving the starter, Flying Wing went to the top but over the 2nd jump, Jockey A. P. Smithwick had Crown Royal in front with a slight advantage over Jockey J. Cotter on Whatta Knight. Whatta Knight almost immediately took command of the situation and landed ahead over the liverpool and held his advantage over the 4th. After the 4th, Flying Wing assumed the lead and even this early in the race, it was evident that the pace setting was going to be done by Flying Wing and Whatta Knight. Down hill after the 6th, Whatta Knight was rated and over the 7th he put in rather a rough one to lose ground to Flying Wing.

The horses had completed a turn of the course and first it was Flying Wing in front, then it was Whatta Knight, the other two horses running a few lengths back of the leaders. At the 10th, Whatta Knight jumped first but Flying Wing again forged to the front. Over the 11th Whatta Knight lost Jockey Cotter but only after the rider made a great attempt to stay put. This left Flying Wing some 10 lengths ahead of Lone Fisherman and Crown Royal 3rd and last. The order did not change as they crossed the line and the finish was official.

Richmond spectators really like races and when local entries go postward, there is no suppressing them. The Deep Run Hunter's Race, which was formerly run over timber but is now a 2-mile on the flat event, was well supported vocally by the spectators and when the chairman of the Deep Run Hunt Meet galloped by to win on his Sungino, the crowd loved it. Sitting deep in his saddle, Mr. Richard B. Keeley casually rode in to win as he urged Mr. Ralph Shoaf to "Come on" with Felvey's Folly which placed ahead of Mr. G. F. S. Hinckley on Broadside.

The Strawberry Hill was run in two divisions with 9 going postward for the first division. Mr. E. Weymouth and W. B. Cocks' owned and trained Extra went to the top immediately but Jockey C. V. B. Cushman was moving right along on Charles G. Raible's Psychic Red. This good looking chestnut gelding was making his initial outing at the hunt meetings and had caught the eyes of everyone while he was in the paddock. Jockey N. Lowery brought F. W. Bennett's Flag Minister in behind Psychic Red at the half and then Mr. Weymouth made a bid with Extra as Jockey E. Carter moved up with F. Ambrose Clark's The Creek. The latter was successful in heading Psychic Red momentarily at the head of the stretch but Psychic Red came on again to win driving by half a length. The Creek placed ahead of Extra with Walter F. Wickes, Jr.'s Springdale and Jockey J. Zimmermann taking over 4th position.

One young lady was the most interested owner-spectator as the 8 horses paraded in front of the judges' stand before facing the starter in the 2nd division. Miss Anna W. Brockius was keeping an anxious ed up with Miss Meggy at once and kept hammering at her until she yielded. Then she had to hold Sweet Talk, which came from off the pace, and did it by 3-4 length. She hasn't gone over six furlongs, so of course nothing is known of her stamina.

Her time was 1:11 2-5, as contrasted with the 1:12 3-5 it took Greentree's Ruddy to win her half of the event. Ruddy is another dividend Greentree got from its part of the Bradley dispersal, her dam being Blade of Time, by *Sickle. Blade of Time produced Bymeabond for Colonel Bradley, the colt being later sold to California, where he won stakes. She was also dam of Blue Border, which won the Hopeful for the Bradley estate, and later, in Greentree's ownership, became a problem horse, though he won stakes for Greentree, too. Still later Blue Border was sold to Fred Astaire. The first foal that Greentree bred from Blade of Time was Guillotine, winner of the 1949 Futurity, though the mating which produced him was made in the Bradley ownership. Ruddy, which is by Devil Diver, is the next. She was the second stakes winner at the meeting for Devil Diver, which also is the sire of the Excelsior winner, Lotowhite.

eye on her first-time starter, Mighty Casey. Jockey M. Ferral handled the situation well as he and Mighty Casey broke on top, followed by the former timber horse, Hapblematic with his owner-trainer, Mr. Leon T. Greenaway, up. Mighty Casey gave way to W. C. Greer's Royal Smile and Mrs. Alan M. Scaife's Blue Teal at the quarter and then Blue Teal was sent to the top by Jockey A. P. Smithwick. Rounding the turn into the stretch, Blue Teal was still heading the field with Mighty Casey driving after him. Blue Teal went into the winner's circle by 1 1-2 lengths with Mighty Casey placing 4 lengths in front of Royal Smile.

The patrol judges had had a busy afternoon, James Saunders, Jr. and

My Lady's Manor Point-to-Point

Mrs. William Clothier's Pine Pep
And G. T. Weymouth's *Toyford
Share Honors In Timber Events

Karl Koontz

Long before the parade to the post for the 40th running of the My Lady's Manor Point-to-Point chase on Saturday, April 14, at Monkton, Maryland, it had almost ceased to be a question of who would win the race, but rather who would take the place and show positions.

The reason for this attitude was due to the fact that on the program was listed the name of an 11-year-old chestnut gelding by Petee-Wrack—Red Queen, by Mad Hatter, Pine Pep. When any friendly bets were made, they were usually prefaced by the remark, "and you can't take Pine Pep."

The horse was good, everyone admitted, but following this was listed Mr. D. Michael Smithwick as second in the Hunt Cup, with Mr. Hannum piloting. Lawrence E. Jones' Village Gossip, which had earned a third in the 1949 running of this event, appeared very fit. Then there was Jay Secor's front running, colorful Bomber, with his owner up; the very capable jumping grey Barrier with owner, George Arrowsmith up; the first time starter over timber, Miss Arle-Anne Perry's Aubale, with Mr. William Bonner up; Lee Ryan's Merrily, with Mr. Joe Aitcheson; and the consistent little Roxspur, which has been close many times, "but always a best man, never the groom."

Everyone kept looking intently for Pine Pip and Carolina within the human saddling enclosure but that into the crowd, so they settled for those accounted for.

By virtue of the course being transplanted, Pine Pep set a course record of 6.48 3-5 for the about 3 miles distance. This transplanting met with enthusiastic spectator approval, as many more of the fences are in sight, and less dashing about is necessary. Although it was quite necessary to keep moving about to keep from freezing, due to a penetrating cold wind.

The John Rush Streett Memorial often proves a more exciting event, due to the fact that it is open to horses which have never won two races over timber. Those entered were Janon Fisher, Jr.'s Saw Buck, Mr. Janon Fisher II up; Brooks Parker's Easter Fox, with Mr. J. A. Kelley, Jr. in the irons; Walter Brewster's Big Bones, with Hugh O'Donovan taking over; Kirk Millsbaugh on his Sardonic; Hugh Wiley's Rev., Hugh up; Albert Stabler, Jr.'s Toshbuckler, Mr. Robert Hilton, riding; B. H. Griswold III on Mrs. Griswold III's Edward M; and G. T. Weymouth's *Toyford, with Charles Benzil up.

Over at McDonough School, Gene Weymouth kept *Toyford in training

POINT-TO-POINTS

ed *Toyford, but the imported Irish gelding moved away to withstand a strong challenge by Edward M, which fell short by about 2 lengths.

As Miss Patty Weymouth came up to congratulate the winner, after he had weighed out, they were both pushed in the direction of the presentation ceremonies. But like a skittish filly in her first look at the starting gate, she hastily dug in her toes and tried to bolt. With much persuasion Mr. Benzil managed to get her to accompany him up on the wagon where they received the trophies from Peggy and Ginny Pearce.

Sardonic and Toshbuckler, refused 10th when far out of the running and were pulled up. Scratched: Play Keno, Bright Lantern, Roxspur, *McGinty Moore, Our Cowbov.

MY LADY'S MANOR POINT-TO-POINT first fence, Village Gossip (No. 4) with Mr. Philip Fanning about to part company, Barrier (No. 2) Mr. George Arrowsmith owner-rider up and (center) Mr. John B. Hannum III on his Our Hobo. (W. Ross Dunaway, The Sunpapers) rider, a hard combination to beat in any man's book. It had been done, yes, in timber racing, just as in any competitive sport there are always upsets.

The only time this combine had been beaten in Maryland was in the Grand National Point-to-Point chase at Butler in 1949, when Pine Pep overtook the black Cormac, after he had led most of the way, at the last fence. The black stallion, as if to say, "Oh, no you don't," moved away to win over the Clothier red and brown.

Since that time, Pine Pep has added two Maryland Hunt Cups to his credit, plus other top efforts. Mike Smithwick, who grew up among horses, rode his first winning timber race 6 years ago, at Media, Pennsylvania. He had the leg up on the Janon Fisher, Jr. trained *Iron Mould, in the Rose Tree Hunter Challenge Cup. He brought the son of Iron Hand—Tipperary Maid, by Iast Lot, up to the wire ahead of some nice timber horses like Miltiades, Big Boot, Cliftons Duke and others. Since that time, riding winners just sorta comes naturally. So it was no wonder that this combination was placed at the head of the line-up.

This year, the committee decided not to have a paddock, and it was quite interesting to see how it worked out. At the majority of hunt meets, the paddock usually contains more people of no assistance to the horses or trainers, than those which stand outside of the "royal circle" and peer in. It worked out well at the Manor, for the people formed a large circle, with the horses, trainers and jocks inside.

Being saddled were 9 other hopefuls that were going to be sure that the Clothier combination was not going to have a walk-over. There was the chestnut, Mrs. John Hannum, III's Our Hobo, a winner of this event in 1950, who carries a scorecard of a fall, a third and a pair was saddled up by the judges' stand and joined the others in the parade to the post.

At the start, Merrily went away on top, but was overhauled by Bomber as they came over the first fence. All were over safely, except for Village Gossip, which put Mr. Philip Fanning over his head. Bomber was winging on top, but over the 3rd and 4th, Barrier moved out on the front end, only to relinquish the lead after the 4th, and gradually give ground.

Pine Pep, which had been among the rear guard, saved ground between the 4th and 5th, but Bomber was still leading, with Our Hobo 2nd and Carolina in the 3rd position. As they came into the 7th, Pine Pep had eased into 5th place behind Bomber, Our Hobo, Roxspur, and Carolina, with Aubale, Merrily and Barrier following.

Bomber continued to show the way, but Pine Pep was closing, and at the 10th fence the black gelding went down leaving Pine Pep up on the beacon. Pine Pep continued to show the way, with Roxspur in hot pursuit, and at the 14th and last, the brown Pilate gelding was about a length off the "flying red horse", until the Clothier color bearer moved out in the run to the wire to win easily.

The photographers had their hands full trying to get the winning factions together for the presentation. First off the winning rider was cornered by congratulating well wishers. "Pine Pep is as good a horse as there is," said Mr. Smithwick when asked about his race, "and this 'spectators' course' is one of the nicest."

By this time Mr. and Mrs. Clothier were gotten within the range of the presentation stand, a flat-topped wagon. They succeeded in getting Mrs. Henry Obre, Mike Smithwick, and Mrs. Clothier up on the wagon, but by then Mr. Clothier had melted while Burling Cocks had the stables' main hope *McGinty Moore in training at Camden. *McGinty Moore, with Gene up, finished second at Deep Run, while Charles Benzil an "across the way neighbor" took over the reins on *Toyford to give a winning account over timber.

It was the first timber victory for the bay 7-year-old son of Beresford—Newtoy, by New Guinea and for Charles Benzil.

At the drop of the flag, Brook Parker's good looking grey Easter Fox, went to the top, but put in a rough jump over the first fence. After this *Toyford went out to set the pace with Easter Fox very close throughout the running. At the 13th, Easter Fox momentarily head-

The English Grand National

In Keeping With Traditional Romance
Linked With This Event The Bay
Mare Nickel Coin Wins Easily

John Hislop

The 1951 Grand National was one of the most remarkable in the history of the race. Thirty-six horses started, but only 3 finished, 1 of these having fallen and been remounted and the field being reduced to 5 before one circuit of the course had been made.

After a couple of showers during the early part of the afternoon, which blew over before the runners appeared in the paddock itself, the weather cleared and conditions were good by the time the National came to be run.

J. H. Whitney's Arctic Gold was much admired, both in the paddock and as he cantered down to the post—he is a fine, free mover, with a long, powerful stride and is a grand type of 'chaser, still likely to improve, as he is only 6. Others to catch the eye were last year's winner, Freebooter; Cloncarraig, which fell when upstides with Freebooter a fence from home; Lord Bicester's handsome chestnuts, Finnure and Roimond—Martin Molony was unable to ride the latter owing to a sprained ankle incurred in a fall earlier in the meeting—Shagreen, a fine horse, much fancied because of his victory over Freebooter at Aintree in November, and Landfort, a nice young horse which had shown good form during the season.

In the race, things went the wrong way from the start. When the gate went up, half the field were not ready for it and many runners lost much ground, the worst sufferers being Freebooter and Cloncarraig. Perhaps as a result of getting away unbalanced, or through trying to make up lost ground too quickly, falls started early, 12 horses coming down at the 1st fence, including Finnure and Landfort.

This was a bad beginning; for it meant that there was a great deal of interference from loose horses, before the runners had sorted themselves out. The first to show in front were Binghamstown, Prince Brownie, Partpoint, Arctic Gold, and Nickel Coin. Arctic Gold realized the gate had gone up before his rider, champion Tim Molony had done so, and the horse jumped off so quickly that he nearly left Tim behind.

By the time the leaders had got to the 3rd fence, Arctic Gold was just in front. He was going well and, since he was favorite, all eyes were fixed on him anxiously. He was going well and seemed to be jumping fluently, and after he had sailed over the formidable Becher's Brook without mishap, his supporters began to think that he was pretty sure to get round. But in a second their hopes were shattered. At the next fence, a small but rather awkwardly placed one, he was down, and a groan went up from all over the track. He may have had his attention distracted by the nearby presence of a loose horse, but he certainly suffered no interference.

Before this, Freebooter was brought down by a loose horse—his first fall at Aintree—and soon after Becher's Shagreen too fell. There was no excuse for him, "the only interference he met was the fence", his jockey Glen Kelly afterwards remarked.

Cloncarraig was brought down by a loose horse approaching the Canal Turn—he had not even reached the fence—and Roimond went at Valentine's. A great many of the lesser lights were also out of the race at this stage, and as the runners came on to the racecourse for the end of the first circuit, there were only about 5 standing.

These were headed by Russian Hero, a previous winner of the race, which was going so well that it looked quite likely that he would add a second victory to his record. However, at the big open ditch in front of the stands, the "Chair" fence, he collided with a loose horse and that was the finish of his chance. This left the unconsidered Gay Heather in the lead, followed by Nickel Coin, Derrinstown, Royal Tan (which had finished 2nd in the Irish National a week previously) and Broomfield. These were the only horses still in the race at the start of the second lap. Broomfield and Gay Heather did not last long, and Derrinstown followed suit, but his rider, A. Power, managed to hold on to him and remount, following on a long way behind Nickel Coin and Royal Tan, between who the race now lay.

The two leaders galloped on, stride for stride, each jumping well. There was nothing between them, and it was impossible to say which was the most probable winner. They jumped the last fence but one upstides, and coming to the last Royal Tan gained a slight lead. Nickel Coin was under pressure, and Royal Tan seemed to be going a shade the better of the two. At the last, Royal Tan made a bad mistake, and it is to the credit of his young Irish amateur rider, Mr. A. S. O'Brien, that they remained together. This decided the race; for Royal Tan lost 3 lengths, and his blunder left him a tired horse. Nickel Coin went on to an easy victory. Derrinstown filled 3rd place, coming in far behind the first two.

The story of Nickel Coin is in keeping with the traditional romance surrounding the history of the Grand National.

Bought as a yearling at Newmarket Sales by Mr. Royle, father of her present owner, for 55 guineas, she was resold later for £150. Some years later, after she had been hunting and show-jumping, winning several jumping prizes, Mr. Royle bought her back for £300 and eventually gave her to his son. She has been hunted often, including a number of days during the present season, and she never raced until two years ago, when she was 7. A pretty little mare, barely 15 hands 3 inches in height, she is neat and compact in build, with good limbs and general conformation. As a prospective National winner she looked too small and fragile, but she has proved her stamina and jumping ability by winning several times at other tracks, and her great courage enabled her to face Aintree without any qualms. Her owner, Mr. Royle junior, is a young Surrey farmer and amateur rider, as was her trainer, James O'Donoghue, a good point-to-point jockey in his day.

Nickel Coin, a deep bay in colour, is by Pay Up (by Fairway—Book Debt, by Buchan) out of Viscum, by Walter Gay—Plaza, by Simon Square. Her sire, Pay Up, won the Two Thousand Guineas and was 4th in the Derby, but has proved a disappointment at stud. Her maternal grandsire, Walter Gay, ran 2nd in the Derby and traces to Barcalaine, from whom many good jumpers descend.

ARAPAHOE HUNT
Route 1, Box 82,
Littleton,
Colorado.
Established 1929.
Recognized 1934.

January went out shaking an icy finger at us and on the 1st of February the temperature skidded to 25 below which ended any thought of hunting that day. Thanks to Colorado's versatility in the way of weather, it was clear and warm by the next scheduled meet on the 4th, and hounds went out for the first time in 10 days. Finding early in the morning they took the line through the Tower fence, turned left towards the lake and circled back into the South Ranch. The ground there was criss-crossed with tracks and when the line faded out going south, George cast his hounds back into the Tower and they soon found a fresh line which they worked over the Anticline. Coming down the north slope scent improved perceptibly and hounds ran well through the Purebred and Section 12 where the coyote made his turn just east of Headquarters. The Field had a good view as he ran south through the Trap and headed for the distant Anticline. Over the top of this hill he ran into the Hole and though hounds took him through it and into the Tower, he persisted in returning to that rough, rough country, and after 2 1-2 hours, hounds were called in.

On Thursday the 8th we had the smallest turnout of the year with only 6 riders in the Field. Reginald Sinclair, who acted as Master, and all the faithful gals, Mesdames Dines, Neill, McDonald, Taylor and Paulk. Hounds were cast through the woods east of Kennels and as they neared the Anticline, found a coyote which they ran straight to Wildcat Road where they checked. George took them across into the East Ranch and a few minutes later they had the line again going towards Wildcat mountain which they ascended on the south side, Field and staff scrambling after, only to descend on the precipitous west end. By the time we had ridden down the cliff and around to meet hounds, they had lost but hilltoppers (who hadn't topped that mesa) had viewed on the south side, and when we got there, we all saw two coyotes crawling up the rocks. We had to climb to the top for the second time but were more fortunate as the coyotes turned east and we met hounds streaming away to more accessible country which they ran for 2 or 3 miles and we had a good gallop through brush covered hills and wide open valleys before turning again towards Wildcat.

Hounds were running the ridge to our right in full cry while we galloped down a gentle slope, and coming into the valley we viewed not far ahead. But, alas, hounds were stranded on top of their ridge, unable to find a way down an almost perpendicular sheet of rock and we spent a good 10 minutes while George blew his horn and coaxed and they waved their sterns and howled. Finally they scrambled and fell down and picking up the now stale line, worked it back over the top of Wildcat.

The 11th again found a small Field—Joint-Master W. W. Grant, Col. Hans Kloefer, Mr. Sinclair, Dr. Arthur Woodburne, Joe Holland, the John Paulks, Miss Gloria Hayes, Bud Woodburne and the Neills. Whipper-in Stu Morelli tallyhoed in the South Ranch and we had a brisk 15 minutes winding through the brush filled Hole before hounds checked and lost. Coming back to the Tower, Whipper-in Marvin Bee-man tallyhoed on the north slope of the Anticline and the coyote just ducked away from hounds in time. Hounds were hard after him, up Wildcat road for a stretch and then into the Hole where they ran into the midst of a herd of deer. George picked them up and took them neatly around the deer where they found their line and we had a fast 20 minutes which came to an abrupt end at the Buffalo fence.

There were several inches of snow on the ground on the 15th but footing was excellent and though the Field was large, no panels had to be lowered on account of slippery going. A coyote was found in the west end of the Tower and dodged through the scrub oak before turning south towards the Rocks, behind which he disappeared and left hounds a tricky and confusing line, twisting and turning back on himself through the draw behind Kennels, west across the Kennels-Headquarters road, past the Rocks and for a brief sortie into the Tower. In the 55 minutes hounds were on his trail, he returned to the Rocks three times, the last time running the identical line of his first trip and throwing hounds badly off in the much tracked snow.

On the 18th the snow had melted to such an extent that the hilltoppers resorted to a pickup with chains on its tires and like sardines sat precariously in the hay filled rear end. It was a fine day, though the going was heavy for horses as well as cars. Hounds left the Kennels very promptly, in fact so promptly that about half the Field was still arriving with vans and trailers and missed the first part of the run for hounds found only a few minutes after being put into cover, and made straight for Wildcat road via the Tower and Anticline. When they checked at the road, George rather than struggle with Wildcat mountain again, cast them west through the Tower and they found a second coyote near the Pollack fence. Swinging north over open fields, they gradually circled back to the Tower and from there crossed into the Pollack, back into the Tower and then into the South Ranch where they were called in just behind Kennels.

On the 28th we hunted in the Pollack and through Diamonds. A wily coyote pulled all the tricks of his trade, running plowed fields and zig-zagging in a most unorthodox manner all afternoon. On the 25th we had our best run so far this season—hounds found in the Purebred pasture and headed straight west over rolling hills, passing behind Headquarters, through Section 14 and running as far as the 15 fence line before checking. Although coyotes had been viewed running south behind Headquarters, George didn't lift his hounds but cast them into 15 and they found almost immediately, continuing west across those flat fields at a break neck pace, not even checking when they crossed an old sandy cornfield.

The Field had to ride around the cornfield from the south but met hounds on the north side still going strong and in a few minutes we were galloping over the Holy Land where not only gophers had been at work but the coyotes after them, leaving many a pitfall for an unwary horse and making life extremely hazardous. We got through that without mishap, and crossed Headquarters road to enter the wide, open fields in the northwest corner of the ranch. Our first breather came just west of Bowen's 40 but hounds were not at fault long and soon turned the coyote south through the Section 10 farmyard and across a very heavy plowed field. Horses were tiring but hounds continued across the road to run through Section 21 and into 15.

OAKS HUNT, (The)

Great Neck,
Long Island, New York.
Established 1931.
Recognized 1940.

The final meeting of The Oaks Hunt on April 1 at Lake Success, is one that will long be remembered by its subscribers.

A Field of 40, augmented by a group of visitors from the Smithtown Hunt, whose season had closed the previous day, gathered at Lakeville Manor Inn for what proved to be the best of the 1951 meets.

Promptly at 2 o'clock, the Joint-Masters, Patrick J. Knickerbocker and Miss Ann M. Ottarson, with Dr. Twohig and T. Aldrich, whippers-in, roared hounds from the kennels to the Inn courtyard.

Crossing the Lakeville Stables' outside course (with a few of the more exuberant taking some jumps on the way), hounds found immediately in the woods bordering the Fresh Meadow Golf Course and were off across Valley Road, past the kennels. Over the post and rail fences enclosing the pastures and across the open rolling fields to Mr. Grace's east field, hounds came to their first check. Here Glenn Bennett, just back from Ireland, regaled us with his experiences hunting fox and stag in Ireland.

On again at a more leisurely pace through the woods and the Deer Run where the going was heavy because of rain, the Field went to Allen's where there was another check. From here the line was laid to Ryan's field, where, after a short check, the Oaks and its visitors had a grand run over the rolling terrain with its brush and timber jumps.

After another check, we went on to the pasture bordering Mr. Whitney's barns. The pastures, which had been cleared of jumps in preparation for grazing cattle, afforded followers of the hunt one of the most beautiful sights of the day. Hounds were in full cry with the hunt staff bunched closely behind them and the Field, almost at a dead run, pounding along behind Field Master Pierre Rauvergne on his big gray hunter, Paris. They raced the length of the big rolling field and turned into the woods, up the hill and over the jumps to the ploughed field.

A check here, and certainly a most welcome one, with the Smithtown visitors expressing amazement at the size and variety of the country. With the hunt at an end, hounds were taken back to the kennels.

Notable among the many good mounts in the Field were Mrs. Edward Riley's good heavyweight hunter, Randall's Lad; Golden Nugget, whose good manners and evenness of pace are a credit to his owner, Michell Klupt; the Walsh Stables' Carterfell with Mrs. Walsh aboard, showing the same good form in the field as in the show ring; Mrs. Forest Henderson's good looking Thoroughbred chestnut Mink Coat and little Miss Nancy Astor's young hunter which seems to be settling down nicely after its first season behind hounds. —L. M.

At a temporary check George called them in lest we all be afoot before long.

We were pleased to have two distinguished guests with us during February—Peter Sachs, who is a familiar member of the Field, and Mrs. Taylor who was here from Buffalo and enjoyed that last grand run with us.—H. C. N.

SHOW CIRCUITS

Cleveland Riding and Driving Club

Back from Florida in time for the 5th Schooling Show of the 1951 series at the Cleveland Riding and Driving Club, Shaker Heights, Ohio on April 1, the Rohr family was almost unrecognizable under the Florida tan. Although Tommy insists he was with his family at Fort Lauderdale the entire time, we are definitely skeptical about it. It is our firm conviction that he spent the time at Sarasota training with the Ringling Circus. Without such training, how else can he explain the skillful ease and grace with which he left the saddle and sailed through the air as Virginia Belle cleared the triple bar?

So large was the number of entries in both the horsemanship and pleasure horses classes, and so equal was the ability displayed that pinning the winners was a decided challenge to the judge. It is interesting to note that the majority of riders in all the classes at these shows are under 16 years of age. At the rate they are progressing, they will soon be a challenge to many who have had far more experience.

Miss Mary Ann Rohr, Tim Robrock, Miss Diane Baxter and Miss Kay Kling will soon offer stiff competition to their more experienced mothers, sisters and brothers as these 8-year-olds are in the ribbons every time they show.

Skyline, owner-rider Miss Trudi Gronbach up, performed beautifully and consistently in both the working hunter and the 3'-6" division of open jumpers to annex both blue ribbons.

Following in the footsteps of his father, Major Harry Brown, who many years ago judged the first horse show to be held in the arena of the 107th Cavalry Armory, while he was on his honeymoon, the judge for the April 1 show, Harry Brown, was also on his honeymoon.

Oak Ridge

The 6th annual Oak Ridge Horse Show, held Easter Monday, chalked up another red letter day for North Carolina horse shows. Almost 14,000 persons attended the 1-day event which was jam-packed with everything from cattle, gaited horses, Palominos and hunters to a thrilling parachute jump to the center of the ring.

Oak Ridge is a tiny community of approximately 300 persons and is nestled between Greensboro and Winston-Salem. At least 90 per cent took part in planning and helping D. L. Donnell, the show chairman. The Oak Ridge Methodist Church will benefit from the show's success and much credit must be given the Benbow family and the lovely Benbow Acres where the ring is located.

Fun features included the egg balancing race, the bareback mule race and the balloon race. Mrs. Barbara Bull circled the track three times with an uncooked egg at a walk, trot and canter. Believe it or not! I tried it myself and it isn't easy.

Most exciting to the huge crowd were the jumping events. Mrs. Caddell sent up 8 jumps from Burlington and Oak Ridgers were treated to something sensational. Miss Faye Caddell was 1st in open jumpers after a series of jump offs with Muir Lyon on Bulldozer. Faye was riding Ingmar's Glory.

Ox Ridge Hunt Club

Indoor Spring

The Ox Ridge Junior Horse Show at Darien, Conn. on March 31 was a great success. One of the highlights was the fact that Miss Betty Haight won the Maclay Trophy. This was her last chance to try for it as she is rapidly heading toward the 17-year-old limit.

Besides winning the Maclay, her good looking chestnut, Sun Guard, won the open working hunter hacks, pairs of working hunters teamed with Mrs. John J. Farrell's Ancient Story, which was ridden by Ronnie Mutch and was reserve champion.

Another highlight of the show was Miss Mary Litchfield showing her Happy Talk to take 4th in the bridle path hacks, 15 hands and under. Happy Talk is not quite 3 years old. This Capt. James colt has been broken and schooled entirely by Mary and has had a saddle on only three months. He has a most unusually airy way of moving and he hacked like a veteran. This was the first time he had ever been ridden in a show.

Miss Gay Tate rode her Iduno to the championship. This horse has the most wonderful manners and when this is combined with a lovely way of going and consistent jumping, she is very hard to beat.

The horsemanship tri-color went to Ned Hancock, who also won three horsemanship classes, including the medal. Ronnie Mutch was in for reserve.

George Morris won the bridle path hacks on his recently acquired striking chestnut, Game Cock. This pair is going to take watching throughout the coming season as George is well on his way toward being a top contender in horsemanship classes.

each class entered to count. This year on March 17 and 18, Miss Norton and Ricardo (Dick) Guasch from Mexico City, were both riding under the colors of the Club Hipico de Frances of Mexico. Miss Norton has been under the instruction of young Guasch's father, Richardo Guasch, instructor of riding at this club.

Miss Jane Ralston, popular young horsewoman, claimed the reserve championship this year with 14-year-old Miss Ann Barker just 1 point behind her.

The Tucson weather was doing its best to be typical and the riders showed before a capacity crowd for both days. Miss Jo Ann Keith suffered a nasty spill when her mount, Bar-Maid, ran out at a jump but she was not severely injured.

One of the best classes was the open jumping for novice riders. Every rider was definitely out for the blue and the jumps were raised for jump offs. Fourteen-year-old Roddey Burdine, a student at S. A. S., finally claimed the blue with his clean performance at 3'-8" on Prince Hamlet. In fact, he rather made it a family affair. His father had donated the very handsome silver trophy and his mother was presenting the awards.

Pair hunters was very interesting to watch and was ably won by Miss Suzanne Norton and Dick Guasch on Miss Norton's Mercy Me and Rogue Anne. The riders were very colorful in the blue coats of the Club Hipico de Frances. Miss Ann Barker deserves credit for taking Bar-Maid in the ring, never having been on her before, to replace Miss Jo Ann Keith who had just been injured. Ann and teammate Miss Carilyn Corn on Dealer's Choice won the red ribbon. Gallant little 14-1 Three Feathers came back into his own this year by winning a number of ribbons, including the open jumper stake. Owner-rider Miss Nora Keehn capably rode the small jumper in his classes. Three Feathers won the open jumper stake in 1949 at the 1st annual S. A. S. show under the handling of his then owner, Bob Motch, then a student at S. A. S.

Secor Farms Riding Club

Judging from the turnout at the Secor Farms Riding Club at White Plains, N. Y. on April 7, horse shows in the east are going to run about the same as last year as far as entries are concerned. That is, the jumpers will continue to offer a higher quality of competition than the hunters.

Although Secor Farms was only a 1-day affair, it attracted several stables from distant points which seems to illustrate that jumper exhibitors are very "show hungry" indeed. They certainly were bemoaning the fact that there is only one more indoor show left for them since the war situation has forced the cancellation of Squadron A and Newark, both of which were held in armories.

Pat Dixon, who brought Millarden Farms' two horses from Annville, Pa., made the long trip worthwhile by accounting for the most important ribbons. My Goodness, reserve champion at the 1950 National, and Injun Joe, the spectacular Palomino formerly shown as Pronto by Morton W. "Cappy" Smith, not only were champion and reserve but placed 1st and 2nd respectively in the P. H. A. and the stake. However, Pat didn't have everything handed to him on a silver platter, because, except for the stake, there were plenty of jump offs. Sonny Brooks, who now rides the Arthur Nardin string when Billy Steinkraus is not available, and Joe Green on Harry Ryan's jumpers, along with several others, offered him plenty of competition.

It would seem that the F. E. I. Rules are still confusing to many. Before the knock-down-and-out under F. E. I. Rules, Otis Trowbridge announced that time would not count until the jump off. In the original round there weren't any horses clean, but two horses reached the last fence. Then the judges decided that since no horses were faultless, there would be no jump off and gave the class to Injun Joe because he had the fastest time. This resulted in a howl of protest and much discussion. Finally, the judges had the jump crew replace the fences and let the two horses jump again. The results remained the same.

Although most of the horses in the hunter division were owned by Secor Farms members, the championship went to an outsider, Wee-3 Stables' former open jumper, Festive Fire. The big chestnut, (ridden by Mrs. Dave Kelly), did not start his winning ways until the evening session. He then went on to win the corinthian and the stake. With these 10 points, plus 1 he acquired earlier, Festive Fire had enough for the tri-color. Miss Ann Morningstar rode Mrs. James Parker's Spanish Gold to 9 1-2 points and the reserve.

Sunnybank

One of the most delightful informal shows held every year is the Sunnybank event which comes to life near Middleburg, Va. during the month of April. This year the date was the 11th and the clover hillside on S. H. Rogers Fred's farm was well dotted with cars and spectators.

A show for amateur riders and hunting hunters and if one's horse can't make the turns in the hack class because of the ring not being enclosed, it wouldn't be much fun to hunt him behind hounds. A number of Foxcroft students rode cross country to get to the show and with the majority of the entries made up of owners-riders, the classes bring out riders who couldn't be enticed to larger shows.

Stromboli, the bay mare which was ridden to win the ladies' race at the Piedmont Point-to-Point on April 4, was back in the winner's circle again. With her owner in the irons, the daughter of GinoB garnered a blue in first flight hunters. Then it was decided that she had had enough and she was to be withdrawn but a change of heart sent her back into competition and she chalked up 11 points to annex the tri-color.

Chilanko Imp, the *Barred Umber gelding which was bred and raised by Mrs. Holger Bidstrup, was ridden by Mrs. Louise Ewing to capture the winning position in safe and sane hunters. Picking up additional points with his easy, careful performances, Chilanko Imp moved into the reserve slot with 10 1-2 points.

Junior riders had one event just for themselves, junior hunters. Miss Kathleen McKinney, riding her Appaloosa, turned in an outstanding round to win the blue on Apple. The oddly marked horse well meets every requirement demanded of a junior's mount.

Woodland Valley Schooling

The last of the series of three Woodland Valley Schooling Shows was overshadowed by the fact that Capt. James V. Whaley, instructor and friend of all the riders, was leaving for service in the Armed Forces within a few days. Even the presentation of trophies could not entirely dispel the gloom felt by all of his friends.

Ribbons have been given at all three shows, with points accumulating toward the trophies. Cadet Ronald Sabbath of Morgan Park Military Academy, was champion in the horseman over jumps with Miss Janice Englund in for reserve.

Miss Marla Rude acquired the trophy in open jumping with Miss Judy Landis reserve.

In the horseman over jumps, Miss Gayle Anderson stacked up the most points for the tri-color as Miss Donna Cairnes finished in the reserve spot.

There have been between 50 and 60 children competing in these events and it has been interesting to watch the improvement over the 3-month period.

AT DEEP RUN

The races at Deep Run were scheduled for April 14 but on the 12th horses were on the course, getting a look at the rebuilt brush jumps, schooling over timber and popping over a few hurdles. The brush proved too much for quite a few of them as many of them fell before making a complete turn of the course. This caused scratches galore but also turned up an odd story. Trainer E. Roberts sent Morton W. Smith's Thriller out on the course to school over brush and the 5-year-old joined the ranks of casualties. However, he didn't stop at that. Racing across the course, he went through the gateway and onto the macadam road. A thorough search failed to turn him up anywhere near the course and all sorts of suggestions were made as to where he might be found. The mystery was solved when a man drove up to the barn, asked if anyone had lost a horse and announced that the horse was tied to a telegraph pole within the city limits of Richmond. Jockey C. Cotter made a dash to the spot, found Thriller tied to the pole and brought him back to the barn. He apparently suffered no ill effects from his trip but how did the man find enough rein to tie him with when the jockey's knot was still tied?

$9 WORTH

Photographer Marshall Hawkins really covers territory at horse shows, point-to-points, hunt meetings, etc. as he and his camera turn up at practically every vantage point. At the recent Sunnybank Horse Show, held near Middleburg, Va., he made a dash cross country to get himself set by a stone wall. With his camera on a tripod, his back to the spectators, he was ready to shoot. The three horses came over the first two jumps and headed toward the 3rd—but the course had been changed. Their next jump was behind instead of in front of Photographer Hawkins. As they galloped on to complete the course, Photographer Hawkins picked up his equipment, shook his head and muttered, "There goes $9.00".

MARYLAND HUNT CUP

With the Grand National Point-to-Point and Middleburg Hunt Race Association meetings to be held tomorrow, these will be the final try-outs for some of the timber horses which are Maryland Hunt Cup bound. Looking over the timber horses now in training, a probable list of starters could well be: Pine Pep (winner of the Hunt Cup in 1949 and 1950), Friar's Melody, Our Hobo, Bomber, Edward M. Barrier, Village Gossip, Roxspur, Merrily, Little Springs, Jester's Moon, Free State, Dominique You, Charoton, Invulnerable, Mister Mars, Tourist Dream and Carolina.

OVER FOR THE NATIONAL

Among the Americans over to see the National were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whitney, he the owner of Arctic Gold, the favorite; Dave Odell; Mr. Ambrose Clark; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Winthrop from Myopia and Col. Francis Appleton; Mr. Charles Summer Bird also from near Myopia; Mrs. Phyllis Moffett of New York; and the Irish hunting party, Nancy Iselin Morgan, Barbara and Bunny Sears, Teddy Stettinius, Samm Small and Peggy Spears. Nancy also had a hunt in England. Some had just come from Paris and others arrived from Dublin. Peggy Spears is going back to Ireland from Punchestown and the rest probably will return to their native land.—JWB.

HOPEFUL STUD DISSOLVED

The Hopeful Stud of Boyce, Virginia is to be dissolved. This was a partnership between Frank Christopher of Carter Hall, Millwood, Va. and Tyson and Kenneth Gilpin, Jr. which was started last year for breeding and racing purposes. The stud now has two 2-year-olds, three 3-year-olds, three mares, two of which are in foal. It is understood the horses will be sold privately.

R. S. P. C. A.

The R. S. P. C. A. are concerned about the number of falls during the National and are writing to Mrs. Topham. Said their chief secretary, "At our request several modifications have been made to the course and the fences in the past few years. We think the Chair Jump is a very severe test for a horse."

"We are also to ask that the right-angle turn at Melling Road be rounded off. We think, too, that the chief cause of accidents is that there are too many horses in the field. Reducing the entries in the race will be our chief recommendation."

With all the falls in this year's National only one rider came through with a broken arm and no horses were injured.—JWB.

OBJECTIVE—SADDLE

Instructions on mounting: First approach the horse as if you had nothing to fear. Pat him on the neck and say, "Hello Harry, or Silver or Rex." This will give a feeling of familiarity and probably contempt.

Next face the horse's rump, so that the whites of his eyes won't intimidate you, and pick up the reins in your left hand. Then—if you haven't tried knee bends, Russian ballet or pole vaulting recently—grasp the stirrup leather in your right hand and ease the left foot into the stirrup. Slide the right hand from the leather to the back of the saddle, grip your teeth and spring lightly upward. Several things may happen, the most improbable being that you will land in the saddle.

The grief that may befall includes: first: as you spring lightly, transferring your weight to the stirrup, your left foot slips out of it and you fall forward hitting your face on the iron... this will leave you breathless and with no teeth; second: the horse may turn around to see what you are doing, hit you in the small of the back, sending you on your face... this leaves you flat and undignified; and third: you may spring so lightly that you fly over the other side... this leaves you unconscious.

NOTE: Never try using a mounting block, you may fall or walk off of it.

SUGGESTIONS: Try running and jumping, try climbing up one front leg, try a ladder, try a derrick. Why not call it, quits and go home? —Margaret Cronk

CANADIAN FOAL

Casa Camara, one of the best Canadian-bred race mares for many years, dropped a colt foal on April 4 by Vince Sheridan's well thought of young sire, Sargent Spence (by Bull Lea). The mare will be sent to the National Stud to be bred to Fairaris. Owner W. F. Morrissey is well pleased with the new foal. Casa Camara is a half-sister to Bunty Lawless, leading Canadian sire for the past 3 years. She is by the Argentine-bred Siete Colores—Minutina.—Broadview.

RE-ELECTED

All officers of the Delaware Steeplechase and Race Association have been re-elected by the Board of Directors to serve for the ensuing year. They are: Donald P. Ross, president; J. Simpson Dean, vice-president and treasurer; Bryan Field, vice-president and general manager and B. H. Wood, secretary and assistant treasurer. Allison H. Fleitas was elected to the Board of Directors.

MCGREGOR DAWSON

Texas show riders were distressed to hear of the death of a grand old campaigner in March. McGregor Dawson sustained a fractured skull in a fall and died within three days. The horse was owned by Miss Judy Sharpe of Houston but since she has been away at college, he has been ridden by several friends to garner many ribbons.—W. D.

RETURN TO TROTTERS

Fasig-Tipton Company is going into trotting sales this Fall according to President Tyson Gilpin. Arrangements have just been made for the sales company to conduct a large trotting sale at Trenton in October. There is a 250 stall establishment at Trenton with a mile track. It is expected the sale will run around 600 head and the horses will be auctioned by George Swinebroad. There is night-time trotting at Yonkers in October so the sale will be in the daytime to permit salegoers to attend the racing at night. This move of Fasig-Tipton is a return to the trotting horse business which was once a large part of Mr. Tranter's sales company from 1899 to 1931, when the trotting sale was known as the Old Glory Sale that handled 25,000 trotters during this period.

FASIG-TIPTON'S TYSON GILPIN

Tyson Gilpin of the Fasig-Tipton Co. spent some time in Kentucky where he conferred with the executors of the Riddle Estate and visited various stud farms. Mr. Gilpin expressed his pleasure at the favorable response horsemen were giving the Stallion Register project which his company is working on. Stallion owners have been very receptive and the next move is to interview enough interested parties to determine what form and contents will please the majority.

Mr. Gilpin also took advantage of his visit to purchase two of Elmdorf's choicest fillies to round out his family's Kentmere Farm Saratoga consignment.

Needless to say, that Repetitoire's victory in the Experimental No. 1 was very pleasing to the youthful head of the sales company. The 3-year-old chestnut son of "Happy Argo—My Hattie, by Mad Hatter went for $4,000 in 1949. When one thinks of the low price tag on Battiefeld, Nullify, Lord Putnam, Count Turf, Silver Wings, How and numerous others, which sold at the famous spa in 1949, it looks like it will again be Saratoga for equine bargains for this year's yearling sales. —Easy Mark

FREE ADVICE

Instructions on how to load a horse: The first lesson in loading a horse in a trailer or van is to ignore him completely. Let him think that you care not at all if he walks up the ramp, that you are merely leading him around for the exercise—yours. Grasp the lead line firmly in both hands, not letting the horse see you, of course, and advance in a nonchalant manner toward the ramp. Walk up it without glancing backward. The horse may become entangled with the other end of the rope, or his own feet, or the bystanders. It is no concern of ours. You merely are going for a walk, and somehow a horse became attached to you and followed.

This didn't work? Try it again, and again, and again. Next sit down and listen to all the advice your friends have to offer. Try everything they suggest. None of their ideas will work, but they are trying to be helpful and you must cooperate and show your appreciation. Try picking up his feet one at a time and placing them on the ramp. Try coaxing. No success? Try yelling. Perhaps the animal is an army remount.

Are you dressed properly for the experiment? Horses prefer you in shoes that slide down the ramp every time they rear back. They prefer flat soles for men and high heels for women, and they like women to wear skirts. It's easier to skin their knees.

Now, try the first proceedings again. The horse must by this time have the idea you want him in the trailer. He should load. In fact he will probably go in with a rush that will flatten you against the front of the van. He didn't? Well—why not give up the whole thing and go tomorrow. No? Ok. Let's try it again. —Margaret Cronk

W. L. BRANN

W. L. Brann, member of The Jockey Club and a well known owner and breeder, died at his winter home at Boynton Beach, Fla., April 11. Mr. Brann was 72 years old and is survived by his widow, a son, W. L. Brann, Jr. and a daughter Betty. As a boy William Leavitt Brann came to New York City from Indiana and made his mark in the advertising and promotion field. The famed mail order catalogue of Montgomery Ward originated in his advertising agency.

He got into racing in 1928 after retiring from business and little dreamed that the sport to which he turned for recreation would lead to such an extensive enterprise.

He imported *Challenger II for a reported price of $100,000 and stood him at his Glade Valley Farm, Walkersville, Md., where he became one of the top sires in this country. *Challenger II led the sire list in 1939 and sired the champions Chaledon and Gallorette. Chaledon was twice voted the "horse of the year" and Gallorette holds the leading money-winning mare title. Chaledon was sold to a syndicate headed by Ira Drymon for $225,000 in 1948 and the same year Mrs. Marie Moore purchased Gallorette for an undisclosed price, which has been estimated near or above the $100,000 mark.

In recent years his horses were conditioned by Ed Christmas and his red, yellow blocks, red sleeves, gold cap colors graced the winner's circle in some of the country's most outstanding races.—Easy Mark.

ENGLISH FILLY LEASED

Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen of Twin Oaks Stable has leased a promising young filly to add to his racing stable. This is an imported 2-year-old by Signal Light, the sire of Big Dipper and out of Jerpont, an English mare that is herself out of the good English stakes winner Queen of the Nore. Mrs. Kenneth Gilpin of Scalesby, imported this filly which she bought at last year's Newmarket Sale in England. The filly has not been raced. She has been handled by Sidney Culver of White Post, Va. who has been establishing quite a name for himself taking the kinks out of difficult horses and breaking yearlings. Mr. Culver got Dominique You to the Maryland Hunt Cup last year where he showed very creditably after this son of The Scout has been given up as impossible by many of the best horsemen. Dominique You may go in this year's Maryland but is now suffering from a blood deficiency that has set him back in his training.

Deep Run Racing

his Meadow View Queen being pressed into cab service as they picked up Jockey Cotter after he was a lost rider at the 11th jump in The Richmond Plate. With the card for the afternoon coming to an end, the climax was the Deep Run Patrol Judges Race. The judges quietly entered the paddock, removed saddles so that number cloths could be added—"riders up" and they left the paddock. Mr. Saunders, Jr. was leading as they came by the stands the first time but Mr. Fairfax Randolph was well up on the pace with his Knobby Miss and this pair crossed the line as the winners. Placing position went to Mr. W. M. Hill and Gay Boy while Mr. Saunders, Sr. and Meadow View Manner were 3rd.

Gab festivals were already going full steam ahead at the stables and with the Deep Run races now in the records, entries were being checked for the next hunt meeting in the circuit.
